

On behalf of the PTFA, we would like to welcome you and your child and hope that you all enjoy being part of the Aldington School community.

PTFA stands for Parents, Teachers & Friends Association

The PTFA helps to support the school by running fun events for the children to enjoy, while raising extra funds for the school.

We believe that these events, such as the Christmas Bazaar and Summer Fete, are an important part of the children's school experience and will be remembered by them fondly when they look back on their childhood in years to come.

All funds that are raised at our events help to provide the children with extra's that the school budget just can't stretch to.

As a parent/carer of a child at the school, you have already become a member of the PTFA, how active a role you wish to have is up to you!

You can offer support by donating items, providing help at individual events or by becoming more involved in the monthly meetings and planning stages.

If you do wish to become a more active PTFA member, we will always aim to allocate small tasks with clear guidance, to fit in with the time that you are able to give. Tasks can be completed with our existing PTFA members who will make you feel welcome and supported.

Thank you for taking the time to read about what we do, if you would like to find out more, please contact us, we are always pleased to hear from new families.

We look forward to meeting you at our Warm Welcome to Aldington coffee morning

Join us on Tuesday 3rd September in the school hall, straight after you have dropped your child off for their first exciting day of school.
